

Webmaster 2018 Annual Report

While things are usually quiet on the website front, we had a bit of excitement over the past couple of months. Paypal is changing how they accept payments and we found out that the TEC Store was at risk of no longer being compliant and able to accept payments if changes were not made by June 30th. I worked behind the scenes to get our hosting plan changed to one that was compliant. This was a bit of a struggle, but most of the site was able to migrate from one hosting plan to the other, with just the store needing some rebuilding. I am now happy to report that we are compliant and can continue to accept Paypal payments via the website for Store orders and Memberships! The domain and hosting plan will expire November 11, 2019 so there was no update needed there. Our SSL certificate was expiring so once I got the hosting issues sorted, that was renewed for 2 years at a cost of $151.48. After a few years of not being able to update the TEC Back Issues index, it is now almost current (up to issue #2 of 2018) and minor updates and tweaks to the website continue to occur shortly after each issue is released as well as to the reference areas as TEC releases more coins.
