

WEBMASTER REPORT - Katie Wanta

The highlight for this past year with the website was that in May, I was finally able to move the hosting away from GoDaddy to a new hosting company that would allow more flexibility to protect the site from hackers. Since moving the site, Googling "The Elongated Collectors" now shows tecnews.org as the top search result and it is no longer buried because the site is trying to link to a pharmacy scam. The store format has also been moved from ZenCart to WooCommerce which will allow everything within the site to be hosted under WordPress which should hopefully allow for extra security and support we couldn't have had with the old GoDaddy setup. The website has had 18.9K page impressions in the past 12 months. Other than the home page, the most popular pages have been the ANA membership being offered to club members for $5, Engraver Initials and the Coin FAQs. We have had visitors from the US, India, UK, Canada, Germany, Spain, Egypt, Nigeria, Croatia and Mexico.
